DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. Applicant's amendment has overcome the rejection under 35 USC 102.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

2. Claims 1, 7-9 and 18 are finally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Liebke et al, 5,702,288 in view of Highberg, 3,236,009, as set forth in the Office action mailed 26 September 2006.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 19 December 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Highberg and Liebke are unrelated technologies, and cannot be properly combined under 35 USC 103. In response to applicant's argument that the cited references are nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Liebke is concerned with the polishing and coating of work pieces, and Highberg is concerned with the sequential polishing of work pieces at a decreasing rate, to ensure long life to the tool and inherently to ensure proper surfacing of the workpiece, in that the sequential polishing of the work piece at a decreasing rate produces a finer textured, or smoother surface. This teaching clearly is applicable to applicant's particular problem of producing a smooth surface.

4. Applicant further argues that Liebke removes material from within the cooling holes, and not from the surface, as taught by Highberg. Highberg is relied upon to teach that it is old and well known to use a sequential, decreasing polishing rate to properly finish a surface. It is the examiner's position that the holes of Liebke are surfaces, albeit curved surfaces.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
